NEW deafscotland Training Programme

deafscotland offers a wide range of training - face-to-face and online - in areas such as deaf awareness; human rights; working with integrated boards; and communication for all.

We are putting together a new training programme. Members can book places and receive a discount. For more information, please go to our website: <http://deafscotland.org/what-we-do/training/>

Bespoke training

We also offer bespoke training. If your organisation would like one of our training courses delivered using examples specific to the work that you do, we can provide that. Please email admin@deafscotland.org to request a meeting (which can be done through Skype/Facetime if you are not in the Central Belt) to discuss.

Your training

As a member organisation, do you offer training and want to publicise it? Please email your course details in the template at the end of this bulletin to admin@deafscotland.org and we will include them in the bulletin training section.

'Connect Us Too'

Mental Health Programme 2019 launched

Following on from our work last year on mental health issues for people with a hearing loss, we have launched our new Mental Health programme 'Connect Us Too' on Friday 12 April 2019 at Deaf Links, Dundee. Over 70 people attended, many of them from mental health organisations / background.

Working in partnership with Deaf Links, See Me and ITV SignPost with support from The ALLIANCE, we developed a series of accessible film clips in British Sign Language (BSL) with subtitles and voiceover. The videos can be viewed on the deafscotland YouTube site – see below for the links.

Conferences in the autumn to look forward to

BSL Conference – September 2019

Mental Health Conference – October 2019

Please get in touch with us at deafscotland if you're interested in the following below:

- 1.) Sponsorship opportunities – we do have sponsorship opportunities for both conferences if you are interested in sponsoring.
- 2.) Workshop opportunities – we have a small number of workshops available for anyone wishing to deliver a workshop.
- 3.) Volunteering opportunities – if you are interested in volunteering with us at both / either conferences.

For more information or if you have any questions, please get in touch with Derek Todd, BSL Consultant by email: bsl@deafscotland.org.

Membership

We have reviewed our membership for this year and you should have received your quote from our online e-finance system by now. Please check your junk, clutter or spam email boxes for this.

A big thank you to all who have responded to the quote and taken up membership so far, we greatly appreciate your support. If you have yet to respond, can I ask you to let us know if you wish to continue with membership.

There are many benefits for members, for example, discounted tickets to our events, conferences and training programmes; and this bulletin. For more information on how to become and the benefits of deafscotland membership, click on the link. <http://deafscotland.org/who-we-are/our-membership/>

Disclosure: Protecting Vulnerable Groups (PVG)

Do you or a member of your staff require a PVG? We can help.

We can countersign disclosure applications on behalf of other organisations which may be too small to become signatories themselves or for individuals who are self-employed and need to have a disclosure to work in their chosen field.

You might need to join the PVG (Protection of Vulnerable Groups) Scheme as you will be doing “regulated” work – working directly with children and/or protected adults, often in an educational or caring role, and be required to have a Scheme Record which needs to be countersigned.

For more information about PVGs and to book an appointment click the link: <http://deafscotland.org/disclosure-for-working-with-protected-groups/>

Growing the Virtual Museum

The Virtual Museum is on course for a launch in the autumn. We are starting to build up the collection

If you have any photographs, documents, film clips, audio clips linked to deafness we would really like to host them in the museum. If you have equipment or technology linked to deafness, we can support you to create an exhibit for the museum. Please email Stewart on media@deafscotland.org for more information.

Best wishes, Janis & deafscotland Team

From Scottish Government

Delivery of Disability Assistance to start in 2020

Responsibility for all devolved benefits, including their funding, will sit with the Scottish Government from 1 April next year, with delivery for disability benefits rolled out shortly after.

The system will have a redesigned application process and significantly fewer face to face assessments, which will be carried out through the agency by qualified assessors and audio-recorded as standard. There will be rolling awards with no set end points and those with fluctuating health conditions will not face additional reviews due to regular changes in needs related to their condition. We will also move the burden of collecting information from the client to Social Security Scotland.

Children's Rights: Consultation on Incorporating the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child into our domestic law in Scotland

I am pleased to let you know that we have today published a consultation on how best to incorporate the UNCRC into domestic law in Scotland. I invite your views on how Scotland's policy, law and decision making can take account of children's rights by incorporating the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC). Full details of this consultation are available on our website.

The Scottish Government believes that delivering the rights of children and young people, as enshrined in the UNCRC, is fundamental to making children's rights real and Scotland becoming the best place in the world to grow up. The value of incorporation to children, young people and families in Scotland is that children's rights will be built into policy, law and practice so all children can benefit from and exercise these rights in their daily lives. Incorporating the UNCRC in Scotland will also enable people to defend their rights in the Scottish courts.

It is important that we hear your views as this will help us to legislate in this parliamentary session to incorporate the UNCRC into Scots law. Please note that the consultation will close on 14 August 2019. Any response received after this date is unlikely to be included in the consultation analysis.

Please feel free to forward copies of these consultation documents to anyone else that you think might have an interest in them. I would also welcome your support in promoting the consultation. The enclosed information sheet provides further background and explains how you can help.

If you have queries or can help us highlight the consultation at one of your organisation's events please contact Louise McCue UNCRIncorporation@gov.scot.

From NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde eHEALTH INNOVATIONS

There are a number of innovative eHealth projects going live across GGC and last week we highlighted two which are helping patients get their care more locally. The first is a joint project with NHS Western Isles. One of our orthopaedic surgeons, Grzegorz Sianos, who specialises in hand surgery, is offering video conference clinics in collaboration with physiotherapists in NHS Western Isles that allows patients in the isles to receive their initial assessments via video, in order to prevent unnecessary travel to mainland Scotland.

The second eHealth innovation is the introduction of remote video consultations on physiotherapy for patients with respiratory conditions which has now gone live in the north sector of NHSGGC. Thanks to a new streamlined approach to physiotherapy advice patients can seek information virtually rather than physically attending a traditional clinic setting. Accessing the service through an app from a phone, PC or tablet, allows the patient to remain at home or work and get the physiotherapy advice and support they need for their condition.

You can find out about all these stories and more by visiting the website below:

Ground-breaking new app for deaf customers on Scotland's Railway

ScotRail has teamed up with InterpreterNow to introduce a new British Sign Language (BSL) app to Scotland's Railway, a first for the UK rail industry.

InterpreterNow is a service that delivers immediate access to online interpreting for deaf BSL users, enabling deaf and hearing people to communicate with each-other.

The service is available via a simple and straight forward app that can be used on both ScotRail staff and customer smartphones.

The pioneering app, launched today (Thursday 30 May), is designed to allow ScotRail to aid deaf customers in any part of their journey, from information on trains during time of disruption to customer queries at stations or ticket offices.

Customers will sign to an interpreter via the app through a video call, who will then relay the customer query to the member of ScotRail staff. The interpreter will then be able to sign the answer back to the customer.

From InterpreterNow with ScotRail

InterpreterNow is Sign Language Interactions' video remote interpreting (VRI) service.

From Thursday, 30 May, ScotRail will become the first Train Operating Company in the UK to use the InterpreterNow British Sign language (BSL) App. InterpreterNow have been proud to work with Scotrail over the past 12 months leading up to this ground-breaking launch. InterpreterNow is a service that delivers immediate access to online interpreting for Deaf BSL users, enabling Deaf and hearing people to communicate with each-other. The service is available via a simple and straight forward app that can be used on both customer and employee smart phones. The service can be used in any part of the customers' journey. This could be on a train during times of disruption, or at a station when a customer has misplaced a personal item. By simply opening the app, connection is made to the online BSL/English interpreter, who will interpret between customer and Deaf staff member providing instant access. The app itself is very easy to use and requires no training. We've included a step by step user guide below and a video that allows you to see the app being used in a real-life scenario.

From Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) New Resources for Advisors

We are pleased to share with you a selection of new resources. We hope these will help you when you're assisting someone who might have been discriminated against.

Employment Toolkit and Housing Toolkit – useful step-by-step guides for dealing with potential cases of discrimination.

The Commission recently funded Citizens Advice and Citizens Advice Scotland to produce these two online toolkits for those who are advising victims of discrimination – one focussed on employment and the other on housing.

Speaking about the toolkits, Citizens Advice Scotland's CEO Derek Mitchell said: "These toolkits are a great example of what joint working across organisations can achieve. They will enable people to identify instances of discrimination and take appropriate action, helping make our society fairer."

Moving Forward Together

Moving Forward Together with the Third Sector to Transform Health and Social Care Services

Date & Venue: Wednesday 19 June, 12:00 to 4:30pm, Hilton Glasgow 1-9 Grosvenor Terrace, Glasgow, G12 0TA

Greater Glasgow and Clyde Health Board and the six Health and Social Care Partnerships have worked jointly under Moving Forward Together to develop a strategic Vision to transform health and social care services. The Vision describes new ways of working across the whole system to deliver safe, effective person centred and sustainable services to meet the current and future needs of the whole population.

Since the start of the year our focus has been on developing the internal cross-system leadership teams to drive the implementation of the Vision across Greater Glasgow and Clyde. We recognise that our ambitions to transform health and social care will not be achieved without the support of people – patients, carers and service users - and the organisations that support and represent them.

We have started engaging with the wider public to raise awareness of the Programme, our need to change and to ask ‘what matters most’ to ensure people’s views and experience shape our priorities and are at the heart of any redesign. You may have already participated in one of these meetings; however we’d now like to engage directly with our Third Sector partners to discuss the Vision and initial priorities to begin transforming health and social care.

Our intention is that this event is the first of what we hope to be many opportunities for us to; come together to strengthen old and develop new relationships; begin having conversations about the future of health and social care services; and to create the platforms for us to work alongside each other to meet the challenges we are all facing. We hope that someone from your organisation can attend and where appropriate would also ask that they are accompanied by someone who uses or supports someone to use health and social care services. In turn, we will have experts available from the Moving Forward Together Programme and from across a wide-range of health and social care services to begin having meaningful discussion about how together we can transform health and social care for the better. Please note that places will be limited due to available venue size.

To register, find more about the Programme or other opportunities you can:

Play on the Longest Day, 21 June 2019

Playday 2019 – Play Builds Children

The Playday 2019 theme aims to highlight the many ways in which play is beneficial to children and young people.

- Play Builds Friendships – playing allows children to interact with others, develop relationships, deal with conflict, and learn respect and tolerance.
- Play Builds Resilience – playing boosts children's confidence, creativity, problem-solving skills and perseverance, enabling them to cope with stress and challenges throughout life.
- Play Builds Health and Well-being – being active through play helps children physically and emotionally, contributing to their health and happiness.
- Play Builds Communities – playing allows children to learn about the world around them, make connections, and develop a sense of identity and belonging.

Play Scotland invites everyone to join in 'Play on the Longest Day' on 21 June. Learn outdoors for a day, extend your playtime, close your street to traffic or have a 'playfest' in a local park.

Let @PlayScotland know of your plans!

Get involved and find out more at www.playday.org.uk

How are services helping children to be physically active?

The Care Inspectorate are developing a new resource with the Scottish Government to inspire and motivate those working with children to increase the opportunities for children to learn and play in an active way. They would like to hear about examples from your service that help children to be active and develop positive relationships with physical activity.

You can email your examples to myactiveworld@careinspectorate.gov.scot

From Hearing Link Scotland LinkUp Groups – dates announced for 2019

Hearing Link will host two LinkUp groups in Scotland later this year for people living with hearing loss and their partners or family members.

The programme will take place on the following dates:

Edinburgh – 27 - 29 September 2019

If you are struggling to manage your hearing and would find it helpful to share your experiences with like-minded people, then please get in touch.

LinkUps are led by experienced volunteers who have a sensitive understanding of what it means to live with hearing loss, many of whom also have personal experience. These courses aim to give you, a partner, family member or friend the information to help you each better manage the changes hearing loss can bring.

Communication support will be made available including hearing loops and Speech-To-Text-Reporting (STTR) where you can follow what is being said on a screen.

Accommodation and meals are provided. All you need to cover is your own travel costs.

To find out more about LinkUps and to register your interest in attending, visit www.hearinglink.org/services/linkups.

Scotland's Census 2021 are holding events in Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Glasgow and Dundee to discuss current plans for outputs, and further develop our plans.

These events cover geography, microdata, origin-destination data, plans for updating our Scotland's Census website, and the different ways in which we will present data and analysis.

These events will be on the following dates:

- Tuesday 11 June, 2019 – New Register House, Edinburgh
- Thursday 13 June, 2019 – AB1, Aberdeen
- Tuesday 18 June, 2019 – Clydeplan, Glasgow
- Thursday 20 June, 2019 – Endeavour House, Dundee

These events will update users about our on-going programme of output development. Your feedback will help us in developing our plans for Scotland's Census 2021.

If you are interested in attending one of these events please book a place on our EventBrite page.

From V&A Dundee V&A Dundee Access Tours

V&A Dundee runs accessible tours for visitors with sensory loss. We offer monthly British Sign Language interpreted tours for D/deaf visitors and live described tours for those with a visual impairment.

These guided tours run on the first Monday and second Sunday of every month and have a capacity of 15 people. Tickets are free, can be booked online and be used by groups or individuals.

All tours run in the afternoon but the timings of each will vary slightly depending on the type of tour it is. We recommend people arrive 5- 10 minutes before the tour is due to start.

The three tours available are:

Creating V&A Dundee – the incredible story of the building’s design and construction*

The Scottish Design Galleries – our permanent collection showcasing over 500 years of Scottish creativity and innovation

Our major exhibitions – please check our website for more information

If you would like more information on any of these tours or what other facilities V&A Dundee has for visitors with sensory loss, please contact the museum on 01382 411611 or email access@vandadundee.org
